Sheriff's Reports

FIND STOLEN CAR ON FLAT TOP ROAD

A 1956 Chevrolet with motor removed, was found abandoned last Sunday on the Flat Top Road near the Harmony Baptist Church by MTO patrol car No. 6.

Sheriff Sylvan Ladner said the automobile, possibly stolen, carried Louisiana license tag 265D261. Papers, he said, found in the car showed the owner as John Mason of 5332 Music Street, New Orleans.

The incident which was investigated by Deputy Fred Curet was turned over to the FBI for further investigation, the sheriff added.

Also investigated by Sheriff Ladner and deputy Curet last week was the shooting and damaging of mail boxes in the Edwardsville area sometime last Saturday night or early Sunday morning. The case Sheriff Ladner stated has been referred to postal authorities.

A Handsboro man, allegedly injured in a fight, was beaten about four miles west of Bay St. Louis at 7:30 p. m. Monday and brought to Hancock General Hospital for treatment of a head injury.

According to Deputy Sheriff Chester Favre, Alvin Joseph was unconscious when he and Chief Deputy Eido Depreo arrived at the scene.

His alleged assailant, Jack McCrory of Gulfport, Deputy Favre said, was apprehended about 9 p. m. by Harrison County deputies and turned over to the Hancock County Sheriff.

A preliminary hearing for McCrory, who is out on bond, has been set for October 14 before Justice of the Peace Nolan Ladner.

Deputy Sheriff Chester Favre reported the driver of a Miss-Lou asphalt paving company truck had been caught Tuesday for the third time with improper tag during a routine check of license and brake tag at the Miss. Test Operations.

About a month ago, deputy Favre said, the driver of the same truck was charged with having an out of state tag and sticker and was fined in Beat One J. P. Lester Hove's court. Two weeks ago, he was again stopped by Harrison County Board of Supervisors president, Nick French, owner of the asphalt co., promised to get the license, the fine was suspended.

The Justice of the Peace refused to suspend charges on the third count and French posted $500 bond and appealed the case.

In other cases tried last week Robert Carver of Waveland, who earlier pleaded not guilty to grand larceny, changed his plea to guilty to petty larceny and was fined $100 and court costs and three months in the county jail. The sheriff's sentence was suspended.

William Herman Dorsey, charged with trespass by peeping tom, on the property of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Capdepone last May 22, tried by a jury, was sentenced to 20 months in the state penitentiary. Five months have already been served in the county jail.

Lazaro P. Holland Jr., charged with kidnapping Police Chief, less than Garriga under section 2227, was sentenced to 10 years in the penitentiary. The sentence was suspended and he was placed on five year's probation. Holland, who also pleaded guilty to a charge of assault and battery on Garriga was given a $500 fine and six months in the county jail.

Ricardo Curtis of Keeler, Ala., Force Base, who pleaded guilty to statutory rape, got a $500 fine and two years in the penitentiary. Sentence was suspended and he was put on five years probation.

Bids will be opened on October 22 for the construction of a measuring facilities, consisting of an acoustics laboratory in the laboratory and engineering complex and a meteorology building, a compressor building and a horn tower near the western edge of the test area complex.

The acoustics laboratory, which will provide facilities for testing and calibrating instruments for measuring sound phenomena, and for housing and dispatching acoustic waves, will have a structural steel frame and exterior walls of precast panels. It will have a floor area of 5,100 square feet.

The meteorology building, which will be used to gather weather data required to schedule rocket tests during favorable acoustic conditions, will be of similar construction and will have a floor area of 2,850 square feet.

The structural steel horn tower, 35 feet high, will support a large horn which will be used to propagate acoustic noise for correlation with atmospheric conditions.

The compressor building, containing 280 square feet, will house the control and operational equipment for the acoustic horn.

Elaborate sonic measuring facilities are necessary at the Mississippi Test Facility because the tremendous intensity of sound produced over a wide frequency range when the huge rockets are static fired could prove detrimental to station personnel and base facilities under adverse weather conditions.

Bidding for both contracts will be restricted to small business concerns in the interest of assuring such firms a fair share of Government procurement.

Mrs. Esther Oschman, who was a delegate to the National American Legion and the 8 at 40 conventions at the Statler Hotel, Dallas, returned home Sunday.

Mrs. Oschman, district auxiliary president and newly elected state chairman of radio and T. V., and Radio and T. V. committees.

Mrs. Lucille M. V. committees, was elected national president for the coming year.

Mrs. Oschman, outgoing departmental chapeau of the 8 at 40, was named National L'auionier for the Southern District and was also appointed as National L'ounger Southern Division, for next year's Marche to be held in Portland, Oregon.

BIDS TO BE ASKED ON TWO CONSTRUCTION JOBS

Army Engineers at Mobile will receive competitive bids next month for two more construction jobs at NASA's fast-growing Mississippi Test Facility in Hancock County.

The Corps of Engineers District Engineer at Mobile is serving as agent for the George C. Marshall Space Flight Center in constructing the huge test facility, where stages of the Saturn V moon rocket will be ground fired before shipment to Cape Kennedy for launching.

Bids will be opened at Mobile on October 15 for the construction of an inflammable material storage building, having a floor area of about 7,900 square feet, and a welding tank storage building, having a floor area of about 9,600 square feet, on a railroad spur track in the industrial area. Both buildings will have concrete floor slabs, structural steel frames, and built-up roofs laid over insulating concrete fills poured on metal roof decks. The inflammable storage building will be inclosed by tilt-up concrete panels and insulated metal siding, while the welding tank storage building will be inclosed by a chain link fence on three sides and a wire metal partition with sliding gates on the loading dock side.

NEWSLETTER TO TELL OF RETARDED CHILDREN PROGRESS

The Hancock County Association for Retarded Children published its first Children's Center Newsletter last week.

The Newsletter will continue to give an account of the various activities of the Association and of the growth and progress of the Children's Center.

The Association was organized in 1961 following a meeting of a small group of citizens from Bay St. Louis, Waveland, Clermont Harbor and other communities in Hancock County. Warren Carver was elected the organization's first president and served in that capacity for two years. Mrs. Joseph Scharrif was named president in 1963.

Officers recently elected to serve for the coming year are Warren Carver, president; Russell Elliott, vice president; Mrs. Lloyd Lewis, secretary and Mrs. Edward Virgilio, treasurer.

With the assistance of County and City officials, the association was able to open its Center in the old hospital building on Carroll Avenue in May 1962. At that time, four students were enrolled in a program supervised by volunteer teachers. There are now 12 students and the Center is managed by Mrs. Irma Baker, school principal.

Membership dues are $5 per year; life membership $25.

Harry R. Scott, Natchez, Executive of the Mississippi Association for Retarded Children, was guest speaker at the September 24 meeting.

GOLDWATER FUND-RAISING SUPPER

A chicken-spaghetti supper to raise funds for Senator Goldwater's campaign will be held at Bay-Waveland Yacht Club at 7 p. m., Saturday, October 10. Charles Dillon, Clarksdale, will be guest speaker.

Ed. Heath and Horace Kergsten will be in charge of the supper.

Each of the three counties, Hancock, Harrison and Jackson, which make up the Gulf Coast Mosquito Control District, will get mosquito control treatment equivalent to the amount of money they allocated for the program's budget, according to Director Chris Elmore.

Elmore said Hancock County, with $20,000 of its funds allocated for the control program, would get just that - $20,000 worth of treatment. Likewise for the other two counties, he said. Harrison to get $100,000 worth of treatment and Jackson $48,000 worth.

His statement followed meetings of the boards of supervisors of the three counties, held within the past month, where he sought increased funds for operation of the commission during the fiscal year which begins Oct. 1.

Elmore was successful in obtaining an overall increased budget, with Hancock providing $20,000, up $13,000 from year before and considered sufficient for the amount of control work necessary in that county, $100,000 from Harrison County, also considered sufficient, and $48,000 from Jackson County, considered insufficient "due to the very extensive mosquito problem" in that county, the director said.

The director had asked the board of supervisors of Jackson County to provide around $80,000 but was turned down.

The commission now has a total of about $168,000 with which to function during the next year. It had set a "minimum operating budget" of $288,000. During the current fiscal year the commission had about $101,000 to spend on mosquito control.

If the commission had been successful in obtaining a much larger budget this year, Elmore indicated, it would have been easier to distribute the money over the three counties, putting it where it was necessary and without jeopardizing the overall mosquito control offered in each county.

Now, with the differences so great in the sums allocated by each county, it stands to reason that each county will want their proper share of the control program, Elmore said.

Most shrimp being caught are unusually large and of the white variety. They are still good to eat and excellent for eating. Caught some the other day that was 10 in the pound.

Talking to Watson Johns the other day, he said he has been catching some nice fish. Watson is mostly a fly fisherman and one of the best. Won't tell you how many he catches.

Ever try wiping off your fly line occasionally. It pays off in the end. Makes the line float better and makes the bug ride higher on the water.

It's the little things that count when fishing.

W. B. Jones was displaying a 31 pound drum he caught Saturday off the R. R. bridge. According to him he had a time landing it.

Whether you know it or not, fish are usually caught off the R. R. and Highway bridges. Last week some nice speckles and other salt water fish were caught on the East end of the Highway bridge.

On the R. R. bridge sheephead are caught and the best bait to use are fiddlers. A fiddler is tough and several sheephead can be caught on one fiddler. If you don't know what a fiddler is, ask any of our local fishermen. When the water is clear, sheephead can be speared along the piling but you have to know your business about spearing them. Flounders are caught off the bridges by dragging on the bottom with dead bait or a piece of pork rind.

Just another reminder. Better see that you have your hunting license before going into the woods. Sure does make things much nicer for you and the game warden.

Pat Toomey, our local game warden is really busy this time of the year and on the ball. Pat is a swell guy to know and is on the job when it comes to enforcing the hunting laws. This is how it should be done. Cooperate with him.

Waiting for the rabbit season to open. According to reports, they should be plentiful and hunting them should be tops this year. Know anything better than stewed or fried rabbit?

With the tides falling early at night, floundering should improve. As to soft crabs, there may be a few but it is rather late for them. You don't know how good it is until you try it. Should see some lights out this week.

LOCAL SPORTSMAN

C. C. McDONALD, JR.

Besides being a busy contractor, C. C. loves all sports, but as he puts it, doesn't have time to participate in all of them. He plays golf, fishes, hunts, bowls and can be found at times soft crabs and floundering with his kids. All in all, C. C. is a real young American who enjoys the outdoors. On a camping trip, he is hard to beat as the guy you would enjoy being with. Fishing fish is one of his specialties.

Interesting to talk to Mr. Robert Roy who have a Bayou Talley at DeLisle. One of the more interesting was that they are both ardent fishermen. They landed a 4 1/2 pound green trout Saturday. Bayou Lascant along with Bayou Talley there are no trout up Jordan River. We have met you folks.

Willer was over last week. He usual enjoyed some salt fishing. Bill should be busy next month when the season begins to open.

Clump of Pass Christy, besides completing his new house at DeLisle way, has been a little dove hunting on the river. He does both hunting and fishing and is an old timer at it.

As we going to make that trip, Charlie? The green trout is their best just now.

Interesting to meet those folks. Some like to fly fish, some like to still fish and some like to still fish and some like to still fish. No matter what kind of fishing they are doing, they like it and the usual questions are "Ketchen?" "Where's the best place to catch them?" "What kind of bait are you using?" "They will tell you, dead mullet are the best. The bottom or use a cork. Right to tell others what you know in the long run, live and let live. You know more than you think.

Social Security

Three months' half of the Social Security Act, which was passed in 1935, is now in effect in Hancock County. The act provides for a system of social security credits, which are paid to the worker and his family. The credits are based on the worker's earnings and are used to determine the amount of the worker's social security benefits.

The importance of these reports was made clear when Mr. Sewell explained that a worker's social security protection depends on them. "Unless the wages are reported, the employee gets no credit for the work. In many cases, this means no payments can be made to the worker or his family in case of disability, retirement or death."

The district manager also pointed out the wisdom of making the taxes on wages and interest are paid, and that the interest is added to the amount," he explained.

Mr. Sewell said the people in Hancock County should be glad to help any household to make the quarterly reports. The next report is due not later than October 1, 1964.

COUNTY AGENT'S NOTES

LAMB NOTES

The outlook for lamb prices is good for the next several years, as sheep numbers in the nation are at an all-time low.

This would be a good time to increase the ewe flock or add a flock of ewes to your farm enterprise. Many farms could add ewes to their present farm operation.

Slaughter lamb prices held fairly steady throughout the year. But predictions are that slaughter prices will be somewhat lower in October. However, chances are that lambs weighing 85 to 110 and grading choice will move at favorable prices.

Old crop lambs that are to be bred until spring should be provided with top quality winter grazing. Also provide winter grazing for the flock. For spring grazing of the ewe flock and the hold-over lambs, provide some clover.

For more information on buying western ewe lambs or grazing lambs this fall, see your local county agent.

HOME GARDENING

It is still not too late to do some planting in that home garden. From now through early October you can plant leaf lettuce, onions, spinach, kale, tendergreens, carrots and if you hurry, turnips.

It would also be a good idea now to get the garden ready and in planting condition so you will be ready when those first sunny days of January and February arrive.

CLOVERS

Three ways to get clover to grow in sods like fescue, bermuda, dallis grass or bahia are: Lime if needed. Apply phosphate and potash. Then clip the sod down so that when clovers come up they can survive.

DAIRY MANAGEMENT

Do you have a good year-round forage program? Oats and ryegrass will give good winter and early spring grazing. Permanent pastures interplanted with legumes will give good spring grazing and sudan and millet will provide summer grazing. Often the most critical moisture removal system in connection with condensers and water separators.

Several of the completed fuel cells are to be delivered to the Marshall Center in Huntsville for environmental and life testing, and one will go to NASA's Manned Spacecraft Center in Houston, Texas, for evaluation.
